The ceremony being performed by Bishop F. S. Spaulding at 8:30 o'clock. The parlor was beautifully decorated with sprays of syringa and white roses, the flowers being banked along the mantel and in the windows.

The ceremony was performed in front of the large bow window, which was garlanded with syringa and smilax. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white chiffon cloth, and carried brides' roses.

There were no attendants. The decorations in the dining-room were in red, a bed of American beauty roses and peonies forming the centerpiece. Mrs. Joseph Richards and Mrs. Fred Bird poured coffee, and were assisted by the Misses Marie Odell, Emma McCallister and Irene Hanson.

The library was bright with a profusion of yellow roses and buttercup. Punch was served by Mrs. Fred Sinclair, Mrs. William N. Gray, Miss Genevieve Horlick and Miss Nettie Luman.

The wedding march was played by Miss Sinclair as the bride, accompanied by her brother, Harold Bird, entered the parlor. Mr. and Mrs. Sterling left on the late train for Portland, where they will make their future home. The bride wore a going-away gown of green, with hat to match.

One of the most enjoyable receptions given in the city for some time was the last evening at the home of Bishop Franklin S. Spaulding on East First South street, in honor of Dean and Mrs. Benjamin Brewster of Colorado, who have recently come to the city, and the visiting clergy who are in attendance for the annual convocation. During the evening the rooms were thronged and over three hundred guests called to welcome the new dean.

The hall was gay with Japanese lanterns and blankets, settees and cozy corners being arranged in various places. The punch bowl was banked with the fragrant flowers, and were presided over during the evening by Miss Margaret Harris and Miss Selma Wall.

Low bowls of the flowers were effectively placed about the room. The receiving party included Bishop Spaulding, Mrs. J. S. Spaulding, Dean and Mrs. Brewster, Rev. and Mrs. Charles E. Perkins, Rev. and Mrs. Alfred H. Peabody, Mrs. M. Phoutz and Mrs. Fisher Harris.
